State Student Commission Proposition

A proposal by the State Student Commission may find Marian students a little "wealthier" next year! The measure calls for a proposed $17.6 million increase in grant rewards to needy Indiana college students. If approved, appropriations could raise from this years $22.6 million to a whopping $40.5 million!

Currently, students enrolled in Indiana educational institutions receive an average of 17% to 18% in state assistance. Those attending private colleges and universities receive between 23 to 24% aid.

The State Budget Committee of the Indiana General Assembly will begin reviewing budget proposals later in September. Recommendations will be referred to the 1985 legislature.

Female Residents in Doyle Hall ??

by Daniel Johnson

Due to the vast growth in the female population at Marian College, certain measures had to be taken to locate housing for the excess students. The most evident change, was the conversion of the North wing in Doyle Hall to a female housing facility; thus creating the first co-ordinated housing on Marian College campus.

The question one seems to ask most is... "What effect will this have on the campus?" After several interviews with faculty, staff, students, and especially the men and women of Doyle Hall, the result was made quite clear. For the most part, the men were split on their feelings concerning their new neighbors. Male comments included... "it's a mistake, could cause a problem." The most popular reply was, "The men's dorm is too crowded." On the positive side, views included, "Marian is finally moving along," "Co-ordinated housing is the next best thing to CO-ED," "Best thing Marian has ever done." Along with the men's views are those of the girls who reside in Clare Hall. Those who were interviewed also reacted as the men did, with split opinions, both for and against.

After leaving the campus administrative offices, I had nothing but positive feedback towards the new housing policy. William H. Woodman, Dean of Academic Affairs, stated that the primary purpose was to provide housing for all students and not have to turn anyone away.

After an extensive interview with several of the female residents of Doyle Hall, I discovered quite a different view of the situation. In the beginning, the girls felt as if they were being forced unwillingly to live in Doyle Hall. This resulted in several phone calls from parents to the administration, requesting that their daughters be removed from the male dorm. For the remaining female Doyle residents the major comment was, "It's one hundred percent better now than it was two weeks ago." Although there is still some disagreement and some alienation toward the girls, they have learned to enjoy living in Doyle Hall and have made the best of things.

So guys, it seems to be a straight fact that Doyle Hall may never return to strictly male housing. How permanent the new female housing facility is no one really knows; only time will tell.

And they were worried about the guys!!

NOTE--Not only are the women setting new trends in Doyle Hall, but Steve Vest is also setting one as the first male resident of Clare Hall. Steve is the husband of Clare's R.D., Jean!

THE LIGHTER SIDE

by Jackie Bagosy

...And so begins another semester at our favorite institution of higher education--Marian College. Yes, it's a time for getting together with friends that you missed over the summer, and for seeing those folks you couldn't wait to get away from last May (perhaps they are one in the same.) In any event, it's time for sharing summer experiences, talking about excursions to new and exciting worlds; like my luxurious cruise down White River, or the whirlwind week I spent acting as Pork Princess at the Vermillion County Fair.

As the saying goes, all good things must come to an end. Before I knew it, it was time to return to the Marian I had so tearfully left in the spring. But, alas and alack, when I returned to my little school, I found my alma mater had changed. It had matured (unlike most of the inhabitants.) Gone were the ancient black phones that never seemed to ring in my room last year. They were replaced by Ronco-phones. As I walked down the halls of Clare, I heard a rather strange tone, not unlike a British air-raid siren from those old World War One movies. Yes, some Boob of an individual was dialing a wrong extension! They were dialing nine, instead of eight-eight before calling an outside line. Now I ask you, why do some people insist in rejecting modern progress?!

Of course, the phones are not the only new innovation in reaching out and touching someone. (No, I am not talking about women living in Doyle!) They tell me that you can even dial a certain number and reach Bullwinkle the Moose. I heard the SAT's of incoming students were improving-- Now I really believe it!!

As well as a new phone system, Marian College now sports a new campus security company. Throughout all my encounters with these stalwart ladies and gentlemen, I have one burning question--"Are campus cops real, or just some entity sent here to confuse intellectually bankrupt individuals like myself?"

However, for all her changes, Marian still remains bound to tradition. I was more than pleased to see that some things never change. Clare Hall still has no hot water, or water pressure.

Perhaps most reassuring to me was that the social event of the season was not overlooked in the name of progress--the annual nacho and cheese party went off without a hitch.....

ORIENTATION '84

From all appearances, the class of 1988 is well on its way towards a mark of success, at this year's orientation program has been deemed as the best orientation program ever offered by Marian College.

This year's freshman class was kept more than occupied as they were greeted with three fun-filled days of various activities. This year's activities ranged all the way from the popular freshman field day with The Pips and the Red Brigades emerging as victors to "Saturday Night at the Movies" featuring a "major motion picture with an all-star cast!!" Other various activities included the Hawaiian Luau, the annual Knightly Hunt, ice-cream feed, street dance and several orientation sessions.

At the beginning of every fall semester, Marian offers a series of study skills and academic orientation seminars. This series is planned for one hour per week during the first five weeks of the semester. The meetings are held in the library auditorium Thursdays at 12:30 p.m. All new full-time students have this series blocked in on their registration forms. Other interested students may also attend one or several of the sessions. There are currently three seminars remaining, taking place on September 13th, 20th, and 27th.

SPORTS FANS

by Jackie Swihart

Hello Sports fans! It was an olympic summer filled with athletic excellence and Marian College athletes are now keeping with the olympic spirit by pursuing their own excellence. The Women's Volleyball team has been polishing their individual as well as team skills in preparation for their first tournament this weekend at I.U.S.E.

This year's Womens Volleyball team is in somewhat of a transition period. The squad lost four members of last year's team and there are key positions to be filled. Only one freshman joins the team this year, but two sophomores and one senior are enjoying their first year on the squad. Therefore, you can expect to see some new faces when you come out to see the women play this season. Two more new faces that you can expect to see will be freshman manager Joanne Chaney and assistant coach Lori McFarland. Lori is a 1984 graduate of Marian and will be assisting third year head coach Audrey Satterblom.

With its new faces, the Marian Volleyballers also have the experience it takes to have a winning season. The veterans consist of three seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. When asked about the teams strong points points, Coach Satterblom stated, "I feel that our front row play will be our biggest asset." I tend to agree with Coach Satterblom's statement, since the team does have four returning spikers at the 6'0 mark. The team also is graced with two veterans at the setting position and if you watched any olympic volleyball this summer you'll know that the setter is a very vital part of the team. The teams main concern seems to be with defense at this point. They lost a couple of key defensive players last year and are looking among this year's squad members to fill these positions.

Marian's Volleyball team will host their first home game on Thursday the 13th against Huntington and Anderson. I asked senior veteran player Janis Blome how she feels about the upcoming season and she replied, "I feel that we will be very competitive with the teams in our division and I think that everyone is looking forward to the upcoming season. We have a lot of talent and I'm confident that we will put it all together and have a successful season. I think that it'll be worth volleyball enthusiasts while to come out and see us compete."

I too feel that it'll be worth your while to come out to see the matches this season. These Marian Volleyballers will be at their best:
